

OPATINT®

Liquid Color Concentrate

Custom, one-step coloring solutions for improved quality and process efficiency in starch-molded confections, compound-coatings, gum and baked good applications.

Opatint® is a fully-formulated, liquid dispersion product for the coloring of starch molded confections, compound coated chocolate confections, baked goods and icings, gums and hard candies.

The components used to color Opatint systems are FDA approved FD&C Dye and Lake or pigments of natural origin in a liquid vehicle base, including glycerin, various oils, propylene glycol, water, or sugar solutions or hydro colloid dispersions.

Easy-to-Use Liquid Dispersion

- Eliminates problems due to poor pigment dispersion
- No separate blending or milling required
- Helps keep working areas clean; no airborne powder cross contamination
- Color intensity is maximized using Opatint versus dry powder systems
- Each Opatint formulation manufactured by Colorcon undergoes testing to meet established color specifications ensuring batch-to-batch color reproducibility

Adding Value to Your Product

- Through the use of suitable materials, a wide palette of colors is obtainable, matching the development and marketing desires of manufacturers and consumers
- Opatint dispersions can be supplied as translucent or opaque, which allows the formulator flexibility in final appearance
- Opatint color usage levels in the final product are typically 0.5% to 5.0%; this is dependent on the final desired color and specific application
